

Individual Training Programs

The World Mental Health Organization's Community Health Work Training Institute offers a highly personalized learning experience designed to meet your unique career goals and aspirations. Whether you are just starting out in community health work or seeking to enhance your existing skills, our individualized training ensures you receive the attention and support needed to succeed.

With a curriculum tailored to your specific needs, you'll benefit from one-on-one instruction that focuses on your personal learning style, pace, and areas of interest. Our expert trainers, who bring years of real-world experience to the table, work closely with you to ensure that you not only master the essential roles and skills of a community health worker but also gain the hands-on experience that is crucial for success in the field. This program is designed to be flexible, allowing you to learn at your own pace while ensuring you receive a deep, comprehensive understanding of all the critical competencies required.

Our Individual Training also provides an opportunity to specialize in key areas such as mental health coaching, substance use disorder, geriatrics, and health education, giving you the freedom to shape your training around your professional interests. Whether you are looking to develop specific skills like advocacy, service coordination, or cultural mediation, or you need to build your capacity in areas like care coordination or outreach, our individualized approach ensures that you have the tools and support to excel.

At the World Mental Health Organization's Community Health Work Training Institute, we understand that every learner has different goals. That's why we offer this personalized training option—designed to align with your individual needs and schedule. If you're ready to take the next step in your community health career, Individual Training provides the focused, flexible, and expert-led instruction that will give you the confidence and skills to make a profound difference in the communities you serve. Let us guide you on your path to becoming an impactful, well-rounded community health professional.
